FOCUS
on one
Luke 15:4

What man of you,
having a hundred
sheep, if he loses
one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness, and
go after the one
which is lost
until he finds it?

I Loved You Enough

Some day when my children are old enough to understand the logic that motivates a parent, I will tell them these things:

I loved you enough to ask where you were going, with whom, and what time you would be home.

I loved you enough to insist that you save your money and buy a bike for yourself even though we could afford to buy one for you.

I loved you enough to be silent and let you discover that your new best friend was a creep.

I loved you enough to make you take a Milky Way back to the drugstore (with a bite out of it) and tell the clerk, "I stole this yesterday, and I want to pay for it."

I loved you enough to stand over you for two hours while you cleaned your room, a job that would have taken me fifteen minutes.

I loved you enough to let you see anger, disappointment, and tears in my eyes. Children must learn that their parents are not perfect.

I loved you enough to let you assume the responsibility for your actions even when the penalties were so harsh they almost broke my heart.

But most of all, I loved you enough to say no when I knew you would hate me for it. Those were the most difficult battles of all. I am glad I won them, because in the end you won something, too.
