The Rearview Mirror

Paul speaks of forgetting those things left behind and reaching forward to those things which are ahead (Philippians 3:13). As we drive down the highway, we often look in the rearview mirror to see what is behind us. That view is somewhat limited. We see what is directly behind us, but not the things to the left and right.

When we look through the windshield, we have a much wider view of things in front of us because the angle also reveals things to the right and left.

Many live in the past spiritually. They see past problems and dwell on them. Have we considered that the past is a limited view? When we look to the future, the opportunities are endless.

Paul said, "To me, to live is Christ" (Philippians 1:21) Can we say that? Consider the spiritual blessings that are found in Christ. Those of the world do not enjoy these spiritual blessings.

Instead of looking back, let us look forward. - copied
