The Cross From Seven Viewpoints

From the viewpoint of Judas, it was about silver. Judas was a thief and a traitor (John 12:4–6; 13:21–29). He made a deal with the Jewish leaders to sell Jesus for the “princely price” of thirty pieces of silver (Zechariah 11:12–13; Matthew 26:15).

From the viewpoint of the Pharisees, it was about silence. The Jewish leaders knew that the world was going after Jesus (John 12:19), and they were afraid that the whole world would believe in Him (John 11:48). When they could not stump Him or snare Him with their questions (Matthew 22:15–17, 35), they decided to silence Him by slaying Him (Matthew 26:3–4). Even this did not work. He rose three days later, and His apostles boldly preached His resurrection (Acts 2; 4:18–30, 33; 5:17–29, 40–42; 17:6).

From the viewpoint of Pilate, it was about self-preservation. Although Pilate knew that Jesus was innocent (Luke 23:4; Matthew 27:24), he caved in to Jewish pressure to crucify Jesus (John 19:12–13; Mark 15:15). He sacrificed Jesus in an effort to save himself (cf. John 12:25).

From the viewpoint of the Roman soldiers, it was about sport. The Roman soldiers brought Jesus into the common hall and mocked Him (Matthew 27:27–31; Luke 23:11; John 19:2–3). At the foot of His cross, they cast lots for His wardrobe as they watched Him struggle in pain (Matthew 27:34–35).

From the viewpoint of the Father, it was about substitution. In His grace, God sent Jesus to taste death for us by taking our place on the cross (Hebrews 2:9; Romans 5:8–10; Isaiah 53:5, 11; 1 Peter 2:21; John 3:16; 1 John 4:9–10).

From the viewpoint of the Son, it was about submission. Although it meant shame and suffering, Jesus submitted to the Father’s will and went to the cross (Matthew 26:39, 53; Hebrews 5:7–9; 12:2; Philippians 2:8–9).

From the viewpoint of the saints, it was about salvation. The early Christians saw the cross, and the blood shed there, as the means of their salvation (Matthew 26:28; Acts 20:28; Romans 5:9–10; 6:3–4; 1 Corinthians 1:18–24; 6:19–20; Ephesians 1:7; 1 Peter 1:18–20; Revelation 1:5; 7:14). —Wade Webster

A Blessing or a Lesson

I saw a sign yesterday that read, "Friends can be a blessing or a lesson."

There is a lot of truth to that statement. Proverbs 18:24 reads, "A man who has friends must himself be friendly, but there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother." Solomon added, "The righteous should choose his friends carefully, for the way of the wicked leads them astray" (Proverbs 12:26).

A true friend is indeed a blessing, and we all need true friends. These friends will be there for you in good times and bad. They know just what to say and when to say it, or what to do and when to do it. We all have many acquaintances, but how many true friends do we have?

Some people that we call friends may be a lesson instead. Paul wrote, "Do not be deceived: 'Evil company corrupts good habits'" (1 Corinthians 15:33). Perhaps the person who falls into this realm is not a friend at all.

Choose friends wisely.
